I. Eligibility Requirements

Applicants must meet all of the following requirements:

1. Be a currently enrolled student with official student status, or a graduating student, who was admitted to NTCU through the international student admission process.
2. Have taken a free Chinese language course offered by the OIA during the 115-1 semester,, with an attendance rate of 80% or above.
3. Obtain a TOCFL Listening and Reading Test certificate at CEFR Level B1 or above during the period from the first day of the Chinese language course to three months after the course ends (September 30, 2026 to March 17, 2027).
4. Not be receiving any other NTCU scholarship of a similar nature related to Chinese language learning, and not be subject to any restrictions on receiving multiple scholarships under the terms of scholarships currently held, including but not limited to the NTCU International Student Scholarship and Chinese language-related scholarships offered by the NTCU Chinese Language Center.

II. Scholarship Amount

The scholarship amount will be determined proportionally based on the number of eligible applicants for the semester. Each student may receive up to NT$4,000.

III. Important Notice Regarding Other Scholarships

If you are currently receiving another scholarship, please make sure to check the terms and conditions of that scholarship before applying.

If your current scholarship explicitly states that recipients may not receive other scholarships or financial subsidies at the same time, you are not eligible to apply for this scholarship.

For example, newly admitted international students who are currently receiving the NTCU International Student Scholarship and receive a first-year tuition and miscellaneous fee waiver are not eligible to apply for this scholarship, as the terms of the NTCU International Student Scholarship prohibit recipients from receiving other scholarships.

If you are unsure whether you are eligible, please contact the Office of International Affairs before submitting your application.
